The Bigger They Come by A. A. Fair (aka Erie Stanley Gardner of Perry Mason fame) is the first book of the Bertha Cool and Donald Lam series and it is their first case working together as well. Lam is a down-on-his luck former lawyer who lost his license to practice for a year because he unwisely bragged to a client that he knew a foolproof way to commit murder.

Surprisingly, New York City had never hosted a world's fair before 1939. New York officials and businessmen led by Grover Whalen hoped that the fair would spur economic development in a city still recovering from the Great Depression. The success of Chicago's 1933-34 Century of Progress strongly influenced the decisions to pursue a fair in ...
