Redline | 1972 International Scout II

The Scout II (Scout 2) debuted in April 1971 and incorporated vehicle improvements that engineers had determined necessary during manufacture of the original Scout. In 1973, the 196 4-cylinder engine was dropped from the Scout line. Due to the energy crisis, however, International reintroduced the 196 4-cylinder engine to the Scout line in 1974.

Facts About the International Harvester Scout

Really solid 1978 International Scout II Rallye in Terra Cotta with white top. I bought this truck about seven years ago. It had it's original paint and interior when I got it, the only rust on the truck was above the rear wheels on the rear quarter panels. It was in such good shape I decided to do a frame on restoration and replaced the two rear quarters with new metal. During the restoration ...
